

REHIOFFHX

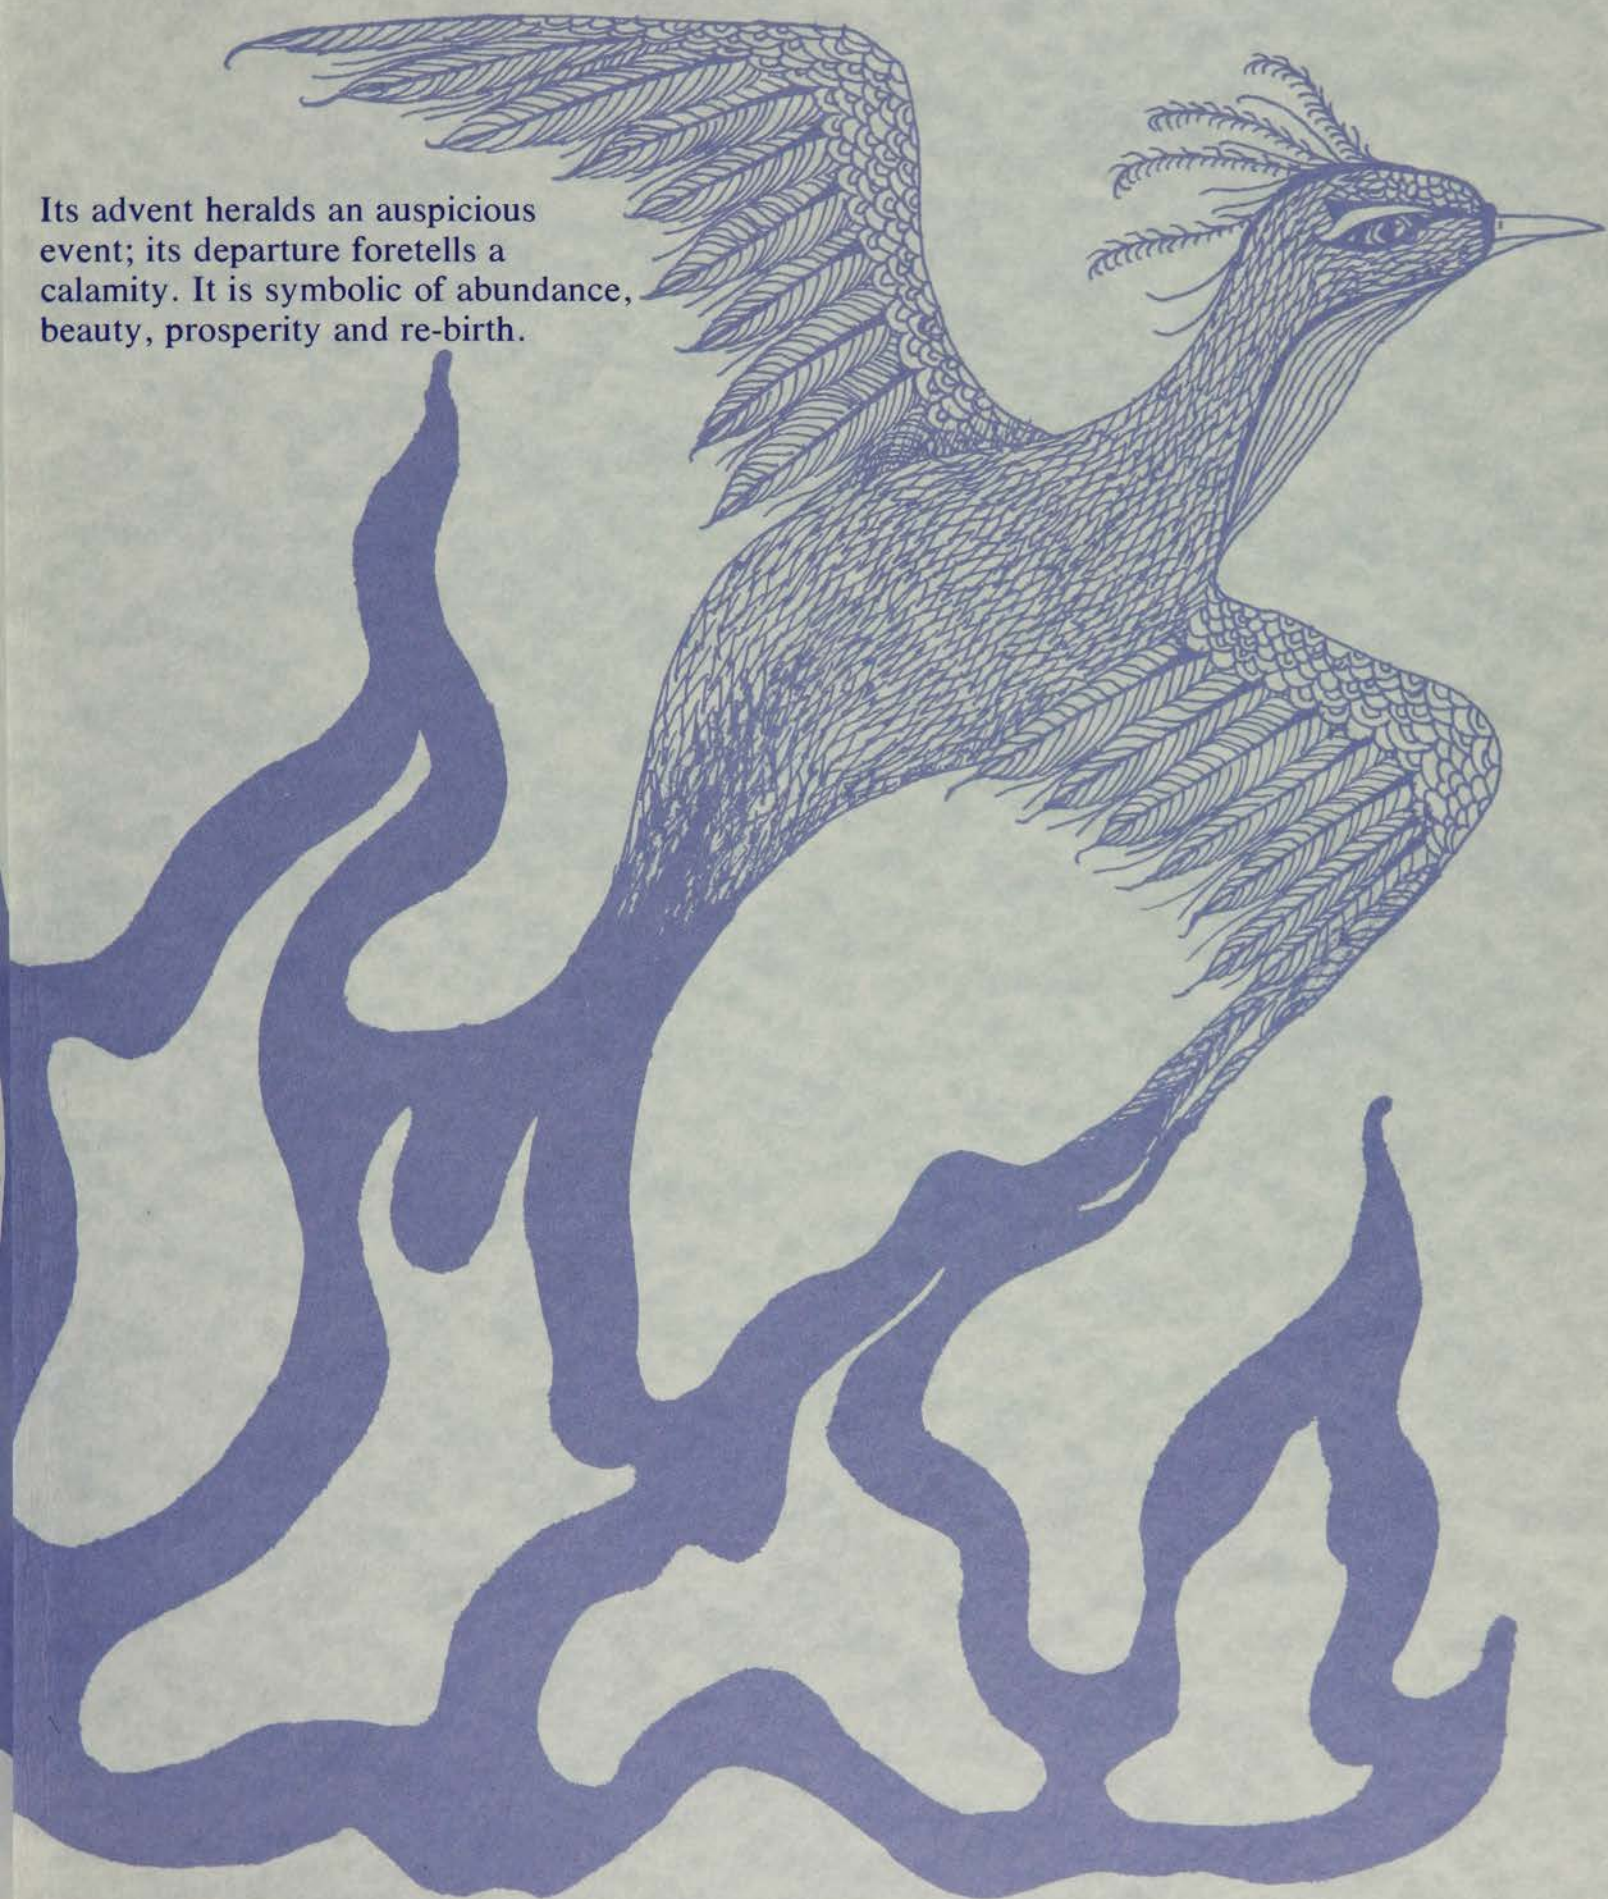

PHOENIX: Fabulous Arabian bird. Emblem of solar or fire worship. It supposedly lives to a great age, at which time it burns itself to ashes and after three days comes to life again. Thus, it is symbolic of immortality, rejuvenation, self-immolation. It appears alone, without mate or companions. Figuratively, a person of singular or superlative excellence, a prodigy.

Its advent heralds an auspicious event; its departure foretells a calamity. It is symbolic of abundance, beauty, prosperity and re-birth.

The dedication of a yearbook must reflect the interaction of the entire community. Such tribute should be to those who have touched the moments or days of our lives. Thus, we dedicate Phoenix to each of those who have lessened a moment of crisis or shared an hour
of happiness. Thank you.

A time comes when one is forced to concentrate on living,

A time comes when one has to renounce
dying in full flight

Yes, 'n old friend is always best,
'less you can catch a new one
that's fit to make an old one out of.

Sarah Ann Jewett

Jennifer and Leigh Hantho

Ros and Michael Calhoun

So closely interwoven have been our lives,
Our purposes, and experiences,
That separated, we have a feeling of incompleteness.

United, such strength of self assertion,
that no ordinary obstacles,
differences, or dangers
ever appear to us insurmountable.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton

Mary and Robin Felder

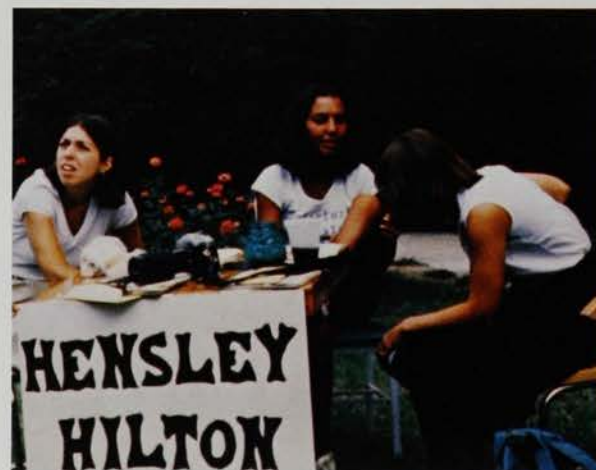

Ann and Tom Mannle

Parents can only give good advice
or put them on the right paths.
But the final forming of a person's character lies in their own hands.

Anne Frantz

Doing all we can to promote our friend's happiness is better than to continually drink to her prosperity.

Marguerite and Sam Lloyd

Treat your friends as you do your pictures,
and place them in their best light.

Jennie Jerome Churchill

Sherri McGee

Irma McConnell

. . . We will be victorious,
if we have not forgotten how to learn.

So we see some chapters of our lives
come to their natural end.

Freshmen Varieties Make the Grade

Every year terror-stricken freshmen are herded into the gym with only a vague idea of what lies ahead. And each year, they emerge a little wiser, not so terror-stricken, and a little closer to each other. As a matter of fact, this year's freshmen look like they're having a pretty good time. The vote was close, but the Upperclassmen decided to pass freshmen Varieties once again.

A long pause . . . then a lone freshman stood up.

Spring Weekend Boat Trip — 79

Each year, Social League treats us to a Spring Weekend, which, despite trials and tribulations, is always a success. Men from miles around flock to Mount Vernon to revel in wine, women and song (actually it's beer but who ever heard of wine, women and beer?). This year's Spring Weekend was brought to you by Cyndi Steele and Katie Kittle along with their co-workers on Social League.

"Vanities:" A Play For Us All

Mount Vernon was treated to an adventure in theatre this year with the production of Jack Heifner's "Vanities." Produced by Marilys Ernst and Curtain Callers, the play was directed by Andrew Pyne, a graduate student in theatre at Catholic University. "Vanities" is concerned with the lives of three somewhat confused, somewhat socially non-conscious young women who grew up in the sixties. The three stages of the play find them first in high school concerned only with cheerleading, boys and popularity; in college, concerned only with sorority, boys and popularity; and then reunited briefly at a New York apartment as they are turning thirty, a little older, a little wiser and a little different. "Kathy," played by Mirra Prendergast (center cheerleader) ended up searching for something with some meaning. "Mary," portrayed by Sarah Smith (cheerleader at right) became a thirty-year old world traveller and the somewhat bitter and over-sexed owner of a pornographic art gallery. And "Joanne," the girl who never quite grew up but nonetheless married the boy of her dreams was brought to life by Nancy Robbins (cheerleader at left). The three girls are friends throughout their lives, so much so that they can never remember being apart for any length of time. Their dependence on each other is touching and somewhat sad as their last act of sharing is Joanne's husband, Ted.

GRADUATION

FIRST ANNUAL SENIOR AUCTION

This year for the first time, seniors were auctioned off to the highest bidders among the faculty, staff and students. Purchasers received eight hours of hard or not-so-hard labor at cleaning, car-washing, or other tasks dreamed up by imaginative friends or enemies.

SENIOR RECEPTION FOR THE FACULTY

Seniors threw a farewell party this year for their faculty and administrators. It was a catered and bartended affair with background music provided by Marilys Ernst.

AWARDS LUNCHEON

Each year, the Mount Vernon community assembles in the cafeteria for the Awards Luncheon where students are honored for achievement in various academic fields, athletics, citizenship and for contribution to the College. At this time, new officers of the Student Government Association are sworn in.

Baccalaureate, planned by the senior class, was held the afternoon prior to Commencement. The ceremony included addresses from several seniors, including Class President Cheryl Gondolfo (top right), and Student Government President Lavern Jackson (bottom left). The class of '79 invited Professor Richard Howard to speak also (center left). Seniors Laurie Leimbrook and Lori Christiansen sang individually during the program, but also performed a duet from the play "A Woman's Place is in the Palace" written by Ms. Leimbrook and Marilys Ernst '80 (center right).

Seniors Bid Farewell to Mount Vernon

104th Commencement: June 3, 1979

Commencement is a beginning and an end for graduates which is especially evident on graduation day when the seniors express both excitement and regret. Dr. Victoria Schuck conferred the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Associate of Arts to the Class of '79. (Left Dr. Schuck congratulates Senior Laurie Thompson). Beverly McKittrick delivered the Valedictory (center right). Helvi Linnea Sipila and Alma Schmidt Petersen both received the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Humane Letters (bottom left).

A Beginning And An End . . .

Confusion and anticipation reign as the seniors ask one another "How do I put this thing on" or "Who do I stand behind in line?" Then the formality ends, and celebration with good friends remains.

Athletics: Field Hockey

HOCKEY TEAM:

STANDING (l to r): Libbet Detweiler, Heidi Reynolds, Terry Holmes, Suzie Rammel, Martha Broecker, Lydia Crow, Coach Jan Hollack.

Faculty-Student Basketball

Despite a valiant effort on the part of our faculty, the students emerged victorious. Apparently, youth just defeated experience.

The tennis team finished the season with a record of 8 wins and four losses this year which Coach Jan Hollack feels is an impressive record. On Saturday, April 28, 1979, the Women's Capital Collegiate Tennis Tournament was held at Mount Vernon. Jean Benoit (no. 1), Brooke Rosenblatt (no. 2) and Margaret McBee (no. 3) represented Mount Vernon in the singles matches. For the doubles matches, Tina Teipel and Martha Broeker as the No. 1 team and Susie Rammel and Lauren Venuto as the No. 2 team represented the College. In an exciting match, Tina and Martha beat the St. Mary's team to win the tournament title in the doubles consolation period. Coach Hollack is quite proud of her team's performance this year and is looking forward to another great season.
